

The Question Mart

by HALSEY HALL

The Question Mart, c/o Halsey Hall, welcomes your queries. Kindly confine telephone questions to current events.

Naturally, baseball comes into a bit of interrogative prominence nowadays, so let's lead off with Casey Lerold of Minneapolis. He asks when did Ernie Orsatti of the Gas House gang Cardinals play here.

A—Ernie was with the Millers for part of 1928, played brilliantly, was recalled by the Cards late in the season. He played with St. Louis through 1934 . . .

* * *

Jack Thornby of Minneapolis wants to be refreshed on how the Braves obtained Red Schoendienst.

A—The Braves got Red from the New York Giants in exchange for pitcher Ray Crone, infielder Danny O'Connell, outfielder Bobby Thomson.

* * *

Abe Garfinkle of Minneapolis wonders if Andy Cohen and Ted Williams played on the same Miller team. Also, did Sal Maglie marry into the official Brooklyn Dodger family.

A—Cohen was second base and Williams right field for the Millers in 1938. It was Ralph Branca, Dodger pitcher, who married a daughter of James Mulvey, one of the Brooklyn board of directors.

* * *

Bill Winick, 4637 N. Sheridan Av., asks when Red Grange played for Illinois and in what game was he injured against Minnesota.

A—Red played for the Illini in 1923-24-25. He was injured here in the dedication game of Memorial stadium in 1924.

* * *