

last year, has a season's record of 9 and 6 with the Reds.

The New Orleans Pelicans, managed by Andy Cohen, ex-Alabama athlete who played in the majors, are a colorful baseball club and they have four players batting over the .300 mark. Two of the Pels — J. C. Powers .308 and Emil Panko .306—were selected to the league All-Star team which beat Birmingham, 10-0 Wednesday night. The other two sluggers are Al Grunwald .347, first baseman and Gail Henly, centerfielder, who is batting .307.

Cohen has not announced his starting pitcher but chances are he will shoot his ace, Les Phillips, (6-2) against the Rebels.

Tonight's Southern Assn. inaugural here will attract numerous celebrities from several different cities in the Class AA league. President Charles Hurth along with directors, Joe Engel of Chattanooga, Eddie Glennon, Birming-