The Braves clinched the American Association title when they downed Indianapolis, 5 to 4, Friday night before a turnout of 3,200 well chilled but enthusiastic fans. Denver lost the second game of a twin bill to St. Paul to sew up the title for Wichita.

Four of the Wichita runs were driven in by homers. Four of the Indians' runs were filtered in by two infield bobbles.

Harry "The Horse" Hanebrink altered in the heroics and the goat roles. He drove in the initial three Wichita runs in the first with his 24th home run of the season, giving him 88 RBI's. Then Harry threw wide to first in the bad

Braves' inning (the seventh) and let in the last two Indians' runs.

Joe Jay was the starter and the winner, copping his 17th victory. But little Charley Gorin was the boy who went into the game in the tough seventh, and pitched out of the jam and then mowed down the Indianapolis sluggers in the last two frames.

Jay deserved a better fate. He was a bit wild and five walks and nine Injun hits kept him in hot water on the cool night. But errorless ball, for the usually reliable Wichita infield, would have pulled Jay out of his trouble in the seventh.

Wichita entered that frame ahead 5 to 0, thanks to three singles in the third, with Poochle Hartsfield delivering the big one, and Ray Shearer's mighty homer in the sixth, which proved the decisive factor.

But in top of the seventh the Indians, who gave everything they had, came up with a damaging rally. With one out, Don Prohovic walked and Chico "The Pest" Garcia doubled him to third. Neil Chrisley filed to center and Shearer ran over, made the catch and threw on the line to the plate, scaring Prohovic back to third. It was as spectacular a defensive play as his homer had been on the attack, and the fans gave "Big Chaw" a rousing hand.

Walk Fills Sacks

But Jay walked Delsing to load the sacks, with two out. Then Ron Jackson skimmed one to short and Dick Cole missed connections, the ball rolling to left and two runners scoring. One, Garcia was allowed to score on an obstruction decision.

The situation was still not serious. Then Jay walked Charley Williams and the sacks were again jammed, and Jay was relieved. Gorin went in and Jim Landis bounced to Hanebrink near third. With a routine out, Harry threw low and as Gorin had wound up and everyone was running, two scored on the misplay.

Dangerous Sam Hairston was up but he stroked one over second and catlike Bob Malkmus scooped it up and to make it safe and sound ran over the bag for the final out.

That was all for in the last two Gorin disposed of six straight, including two pinch hitting batsmen, fanned two and ended the game by throwing Jackson at first.

GAME NOTES. Fourth game of the crucial series comes up tonight at 8, with a surprise starter for Wichita, Vic Rehm. "I need experience in the bull pen, I would prefer to take a chance on Rehm and then I'll have Murff to back him up", said Manager Ben Geraghty. Rehm had his trouble at Charleston, but pitched well at Indianapolis until the late innings. — Despite the three infield errors, there were some fine plays on both sides. Hanebrink was robbed of a double in the seventh when Delsing jumped up on the right field fence for a one-handed stab. Two were on and it saved a run or two which Wichita might have used to clinch the game. — Shearer, before hitting his homer was the victim of what he thought was a bad call. "It made me mad so I swung hard", said "Big Chaw" when he got around the sacks. The ball was hit directly into the brisk north wind and still cleared the left ball by several yards. — No one can accuse Andy Cohen of not trying to win. The Indians manager used four pitchers, and three pinch hitters. He will call on his star southpaw Tom Flanigan tonight, and Flanigan is usually tough as nails for Wichita.

Chicago but still stayed 6½ games ahead of the Cardinals.

The Reds' 14-hit attack included three home runs.

Bill Kennedy, a well traveled old-timer, took over for starter and winner Don Gross at the start of the sixth and handcuffed the losers on three hits in four innings.

Homer Ties Record

Lynch's pinch hit home run in the sixth was the 10th by a Cincinnati player this season and tied a National League record. The 1954 New York Giants also slammed 10 pinch hit home runs.

The Cards nearly tied it in the eighth. Del Ennis tripled high off the wall and when Bob Thurman slipped fielding the ball Ennis gambled for a run. He was out at the plate, Thurman to Roy McMillan to catcher Smoky Burgess.

Starter Larry Jackson (13-8) was tagged for consecutive home runs in the first inning by Frank Robinson and George Crowe but pitched out of trouble several times until he was knocked out in the sixth.

Jackson was pulled after he walked Don Hoak and gave up a run-scoring double to Roy McMillan.

Willard Schmidt, the eventual loser came in from the bull pen and Lynch swatted his first serve for a two-run home run and a 5-4 Cincinnati lead.

The Cardinals went over the million mark in attendance with a crowd of 11,245. So far this season, 1,000,547 persons have watched the Cards play at home.
