Denver Nips Senators 2-1

McManus Singles Run Home in 10th

CHARLESTON, W. VA., May 3 (P)—Denver defeated Charleston 2-1 in 10 innings in a fog-enveloped game played on a water-logged field Saturday night to move past the Senators and back into first place in the American Association.

Jimmy McManus singled home Gene Hassell with the run which handed Charleston's Don Lee his first loss after three victories. Jim DePalo, second of three Denver pitchers, picked up his first decision of the year.

John Blanchard's homer gave Denver a 1-0 lead in the second, but Charleston tied the count in the seventh when Stan Palys doubled and Jim Proctor, running for him, moved to third on an infield out before scoring on Dick Camilli's sacrifice fly.

The outcome of the contest left Denver with a .733 percentage on 11 victories and four losses. Charleston, at 14-6, had a .700 figure.

Lee saw his bid for his fourth victory go by the boards when he hit shortstop Tommy Carroll with a pitched ball to open the 10th. Pinch-hitting Hassell forced Carroll at second, but Charleston missed the double play.

Curt Roberts beat out his second bunt of the game to move Hassell into scoring position for McManus' pay-off blow.

Mark Freeman, who had held Charleston to three singles through the first six innings along with fanning eight, was banished along with Bears manager Andy Cohen during a seventh-inning rhubarb following Palys' double.

Freeman blew his top when the umpires ruled against him on a pick-off play on Proctor at second base. DePalo relieved at that point, with Johnny Kucab coming in to retire Charleston in the ninth.
