

Denver Bears Will Battle All-Stars Tonight

DENVER, July 13 (AP) — The underdog Denver Bears, heartened by the return of the injured Jim Pisoni, will try Monday night to join Minneapolis and Indianapolis as the only teams ever to win two American Assn. All-Star games.

This would be a tremendous feat since Denver has been a member of the Class AAA baseball league only four seasons. Even Manager Andy Cohen is worried about the Bears' injury list.

Besides Pisoni, whose broken hand has kept him out since May 20, Zeke Bella has been slowed down by a bruised hip muscle and shortstop Fritz Brickell, for whom the Bears don't have a replacement, is out with a stiff knee.

The Omaha Cardinals dominate the All-Star squad with third baseman Ben Valenzuela, centerfielder Bobby Gene Smith and shortstop Lee Tate on the starting lineup.

Manager Ben Geraghty, whose Wichita club is defending league champion, has seven pitchers from whom to choose — Red Murff of Wichita, Jerry Davie of Charleston, Barry Latman of Indianapolis, Ted Bowsfield and Bill Monbouquette of Minneapolis, Bob Darnell of St. Paul and Juan Pizzaro of Wichita.

Cohen said he plans to start Ben Flowers. All-Star rules prohibit a pitcher from going more than three innings.

The Bears won the right to be host team by leading the pack as of July 5. They were the host club in 1956 and won 10-8. Columbus, now in the International league, is the only other host city to win besides Minneapolis and Indianapolis.

Other starters on the All-Star aggregation include first baseman Bob Hale and leftfielder Willy Tasby of Louisville, Casey Wise of Wichita at second base, John Callison of Indianapolis in right field and Ed Sadowski of Minneapolis behind the plate.

Yeargain Gains

QUALITY

Four Star Food Stores

4

ECONOMY

Early Week Food Bargains