

Denver Beats Senators 4-1

Folowers Gains Credit for Win

CHARLESTON, W. VA., Sept. 10 (AP) — Denver manager Andy Cohen's change of pitching starters paid off here Wednesday night, as knuckle-baller Ben Flowers handcuffed Charleston for a 4 - 1 victory to even the semifinal American Association play-off series.

Catcher John Blanchard continued to pace the Bears' batting attack. The slender receiver cracked a home run in the third inning with Gordon Windhorn on base after his single drove home a first-inning run. The circuit drive was Blanchard's 22nd and third in the two play-off games.

Senators' catcher Tom Yewcic was injured in run-producing second inning for Denver. Dick Sanders led off with a double, Jim Pisoni struck out and Curt Roberts beat out an infield grounder. Flowers bunted down the third base line, Buddy Hicks fielded the ball and threw to the plate, but Yewcic muffed the throw and Sanders knocked him unconscious.

Charleston got a run in the second, using three of its nine hits. Larry Osborne, Bill Taylor and Hicks put together singles.

Senators' pitcher Don Lee had four double plays behind him.

Singles by Gene Hassell and George Wilson preceded Blanchard's single in the first inning.

The two clubs meet here in the third game of the best-of-seven series Thursday night. They move to Denver to finish the series, beginning Friday night.
