Players jobless

FERTILE GROUNDS for another World Football League were provided by the National Football League this week. Enough cuts to stock several teams were made. . . . What they're doing now: John Adams who played fullback for the Denver University Pioneers in the 1946 Sun Bowl game against New Mexico is supervisor of football officials in the Western Athletic Conference. . . . In the game here, Adams scored one touchdown and netted 72 yards rushing. . . . The Lobos defeated the Pioneers 34-24. . . . Some of Frank Kush's sideline profanity was aired in the nationally televised game between UCLA and Arizona State. . . . Sports item in The Tucson Citizen: "San Jose, El Paso and even Las Vegas are making quiet overtures to become PCL (Pacific Coast League) sites." . . . Footballosophy of Bum Phillips, Houston Oilers coach who does not hold wind sprints for his team: "If the players know wind sprints are coming, they will save their energies in practice." . . . The White Sox have activated 53-year-old Minnie Minoso who is going to be a designated hitter for the team. . . . Now there's hope for the 50-year-old George Blanda to make a comeback. . . . The Hawaii University Rainbows who will be the opponent of the Miners on Nov. 20 were so ravaged by the flu last week that practices for two days were called off. . . . Half the team was stricken. . . . The Texas Longhorns have a tongue twister playing guard: Terrence Tschatschula. . . . Muhammad Ali might change some of his script to say that he floats like a peso.

'Wrong way TD'

THE HEIGHT of embarrassment in an embarrassing night for Arizona State Thursday night must have come when quarterback Jeff Dankworth of UCLA "went the wrong way" on a play and still scored a touchdown. . . . Everybody is asking: "Is Arizona State that bad or is UCLA that good?" The Sun Devils might have blown any opportunity to be ranked No. 1 this season. . . . But count on whip-popping Frank Kush to put things together at ASU. . . . Especially for the WAC race. . . . I was impressed by the Sun Devils' freshman running back Arthur Lane who should not be confused with MacArthur Lane, a pro football star. . . . Lane is only 5-8. . . . He weighs 175 and comes from St. Louis, Mo. . . . Andy Cohen who is Mr. El Paso Baseball says: "The Diablos would have won the Texas League championship had they had a better pitching staff." . . . This is in agreement with just about everyone here. . . . Question: Will Danny Goodwin, the 1975 No. 1 draftee of the California Angels, ever make a catcher? . . . He still can't throw. . . . Terry Stupy wasn't much better. . . . G.M. Jim Paul says in fact that the injury to catcher Tom Donohue that kept him out of the lineup for weeks was the big blow to the club. . . . Rudy Suwara at 35 may have played his last volleyball game when his San Diego Breakers beat the Los Angeles Stars for the IVA title Thursday night. . . . He's quitting, he says. . . . And please pardon us for referring to the new champions as the San Diego Spikers. . . . They do a lot of spiking but Spikers is the property of the Santa Barbara club of the IVA.

UTEP picked 6th

THE WAC SKYWRITERS who made their El Paso stop here Monday were impressed with the Miners and with Gil Bartosh's sum-up of the team. . . . They voted UTEP as the team that did the most to change their opinions upward. . . . And they picked the Miners to finish sixth in the WAC race. . . . Their vote: 1. ASU. 2. Brigham Young. 3. Arizona. 4. Colorado State. 5. Wyoming. 6. UTEP. 7. New Mexico. 8. Wyoming. . . . Sonny Yates and Bill Johnson of the Sun Carnival Assn., compiled a composite "top 20" football teams picked from selections of publications like Playboy, The Sporting News, Sports Illustrated, etc. . . . Michigan was first with 146 points. . . . Others in top 10: Nebraska, Arizona State, Texas, USC, Oklahoma, Alabama, Ohio State, Pittsburgh, Notre Dame. . . . The selections were made before Arizona State's 28-10 loss to UCLA. . . . Next week's football card involving WAC teams: New Mexico at UTEP, Arizona at UCLA, Colorado State at Brigham Young, Utah at Rice, Wyoming at Michigan State. . . . As the pro season opens. . . . there's old John Hadl. . . . Wouldn't he make a good man. . . . for the new club at Seattle?
