

BOB INGRAM

All points sports bulletins

J. F. WILLIAMS

COHEN

WASIAK

RANDLE

WITH SO MANY troubled spots on this earth, it doesn't seem right that we should be burdened by Dr. Richards' chromosome problems . . . News item: "Diamonds discovered in Colorado, close to Fort Collins." . . . That's where Colorado State University is located . . . I will always wonder now if I shouldn't have looked at the ground and kicked a few rocks on my way to the stadium when the Miners played there . . . With the help of Stan Wasiak, the Polish manager of the 1972 Sun Dodgers, I picked an all-time Polish big league team . . . Al Simmons and Tony Kubek, of course, were standout members . . . The other day I saw this All-Jewish big league team: Pitcher, Sandy Koufax; catcher, Moe Berg; first base, Hank Greenberg; second base, Andy Cohen; shortstop, Murray Franklin; third base, Al Rosen; outfield, Morral Arnovich, Sid Gordon and Art Shamsky . . . Everybody remembers Andy Cohen . . . What they're doing now: Jeff Goodrich, of El Paso Coronado, is the designated hitter and an outfielder for the Air Force Academy baseball team . . . Footballosophy of the late Vince Lombardi: "Passing is overemphasized because you need to coach only a few men to have a good passing game . . . To have a good running game you must teach 11 men." . . . Whatever happened to Warner Wolf? . . . He was a member of ABC's three-man TV baseball panel last year . . . ABC had its first Monday night show of the season this week and Warner wasn't there . . . Did you hear about the race track stooper (a person who picks up discarded mutuel tickets with the hopes of finding some cashable ones) who didn't like to play golf because it required so much stooping to get the ball out of the cup after he putted out?

Bethlehem's star

THE PUBLIC AFFAIRS department of the Bethlehem Steel Corp., said the Special Events Center at UTEP was opened nine months before the contractual completion date for approximately $500,000 below original estimates . . . The total cost of the octagonal building was $8.7 million . . . There are eight steel trusses that hold the roof up and keep the building free of view from obstructing columns . . . The two center trusses weigh 75 tons each . . . This column, as a follow-up on the Lenny Randle punchout of Frank Lucchesi, said last week that pugnacious Art Shires, a Texas player on the Chicago White Sox, had a fight with the Sox manager, Lena Blackburne . . . Red Smith, the noted sports columnist, reports that Shires and Blackburne had two fights and Shires won each one . . . Texas Tech was one of the first schools to put artificial turf on its football field . . . It must be worn out because the school has allocated $365,225 to re-AstroTurf Jones Stadium . . . Quote of note from Ted

Turner, owner of the Atlanta Braves: "An owner is like an airplane passenger . . . He slaps on a seat belt at the beginning of the season . . . Meanwhile he hopes the plane doesn't crash." There are two Jim Williamses managing teams in the Pacific Coast League . . . Jim B. at Albuquerque and Jim F. at Salt Lake City . . . Tim Murtaugh, former Texas League manager (Shreveport) and now piloting the Columbus Clippers of the International League, says he tells his players he will fine them $25 for each hit they get but will return the fine if they run it out . . . And did you hear of the circus manager who didn't want his human cannonball to quit because "where would I find another man of your caliber?"

Okay, Uniroyal

WAYNE VANDENBURG wants Uniroyal to get a plug . . . So here it is: Uniroyal, one of the nation's largest manufacturers of athletic footwear, has become a major sponsor of the International Volleyball Assn. . . Keds sweatsuits and traveling bags will be presented to each club . . . Uniroyal is developing a PRO-Keds volleyball shoe approved by IVA coaches . . . California Angels were guests at a Los Angeles baseball kickoff dinner . . . Gary Owen, the emcee and a regular on the old "Laugh In" show, said that pitcher Frank Tanana of the Angels has wonderful habits . . . "He takes a shower every morning," said Owen, "just as soon as he gets home." . . . Paul Skendrovic, tight end of Irvin, and Art Telles, listed as a defensive back from Irvin, are on the U.T. Arlington spring football roster . . . Pat Buttram, the brash salesman on the old "Green Acres" show and a close personal friend of Angel owner Gene Autry, tells this story: When the Angels were in their infancy and playing in Los Angeles, Walter O'Malley, owner of the Dodgers, watched them play and scoffed . . . "The Angels will win the pennant when a peanut farmer is elected President of the United States," he said . . . O'Malley's derisive prediction could come true this year . . . But the Angels are going to have to play better than they did on the first road trip or they'll be lucky to escape the cellar . . . Their bullpen looked so bad that they might be calling Salt Lake City for help . . . And that could move an El Paso Diablo pitcher or two upstairs . . . The current issue of Sports Illustrated has a poetic question to ask: "Oh, where are the A's of the good old days . . . Those pitchers and hitters elite?" . . . Judging by the way they opened the season, the A's could be the surprise team of baseball . . . Oh, where are the A's of the good old days? . . . The champions of another age? . . . Campy, Rollie and Rudi are gone, it's true . . . But with Page and others Finley's team is still the rage.