

27th Tribe Chief

Andrew Howard Cohen, the 27th manager in Indianapolis American Association baseball history, will lead the Indians against Minneapolis at 7:45 tomorrow night in the opening game of the season. Cohen, who played eight years under Tribe President Ownie Bush when the latter was manager at Minneapolis, replaces Kerby Farrell, who was promoted last winter to the Cleveland Indians. The new Indianapolis manager and his players, only two from last year's championship team, also will appear in tomorrow's huge downtown parade, beginning at 11:45 a.m.—The News Color Photo, Dean Timmerman.
