

Pinch-Hitters Star in Split With Omaha

By LESTER KOELLING

The last two games of the current Indianapolis home stand are scheduled tonight and tomorrow night with the Denver Bears providing the opposition.

After an off day Wednesday, the Indians will start a 15-day road trip Thursday to Minneapolis, St. Paul, Denver, Charleston and Louisville. Tonight's game will be "free" to women and Arnie Atkins, the only Tribe hurler who has not yet appeared in the lineup, will be the starter.

It was double day in Abner Doubleday's old game, played before, 2,576 at Victory Field yesterday afternoon, and a perfect day for Indianapolis pinch-hitters as the Indians split a double bill with Omaha. The Tribe lost the first, 8-6, and won the second, 4-3.

Koelling Twelve two-base hits rattled off the bats of the combatants and a 13th just missed when Jim Delsing, delivering the game-winning hit in the second game, stopped just short of second base, and headed for the barn.

Delsing's hit helped to make the day a little more pleasant for Manager Andy Cohen, who was celebrating his 12th wedding anniversary. But just as pleasing to Cohen was the manner in which his pinch-hitters came through with a perfect 4-for-4 day.

Dick DiTusa, whose single started the winning rally in the final inning of the second game, also connected for a run-scoring pinch-single in the opener. Charley Williams belted one of the Tribe's five doubles in the opener, driving in two runs and later scored the tying run himself. Then Sam Hairston tried to get something started by leading off in the eighth with a pinch-double, but was left stranded.

Sometime it's just as well that the hitters don't know who is pitching. When Delsing came to bat in the last inning of the second game, he thought that Boyd Linker, Omaha's pitcher, was the same fellow (Glen Stabelfeld) who finished the first game.

To confuse Delsing even more, the pitching pattern was the same, and when the "out-

Tired Man

The last player to leave the Indianapolis Indians' dressing room yesterday was Outfielder Sam Mele. He was almost too tired to move. The 34-year-old veteran of 10 major league seasons had just finished playing his first double-header in four years. He contributed a double and two singles as the Indians split with Omaha.—The News Photo, Bob Doepers.

side" curve came, Delsing was ready and smacked it for an "off-field" hit into left. Delsing later learned that the hurler, Linker, was appearing in his first pro game after a brilliant career at the University of Texas.

Manager Cohen "threw the roster" at the Cardinals in a futile attempt to win the first game. He called on 18 players, including seven hurlers, to establish a modern pitching employment record. He managed to gain a 6-all tie, but some of the Tribe's pinch-hitting luster had rubbed off on the Cards.

PINCH HOMER ROCKS INDIANS

With Southpaw Don Rudolph hurling in the seventh, Omaha Manager Johnny Keane called on Don Lassetter to bat for the left-swinging Harry Keister. Lassetter responded with a pinch home run that made Omaha's run in the ninth, on three Tribe errors, unnecessary.

Roger Howard, the sensational young hurler with the Chicago White Sox in spring training, received maltreatment in the first game, and Ed Szyzewski, the sensational youngster in Indianapolis spring games, was bruised rather severely, figuratively and literally, in the second game.

The Chicago youngster, with his parents sitting in the stands, twice was hit on the leg by batted balls, the second blow forcing his retirement in the fourth and necessitating X-rays to determine the extent of injury.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

Minneapolis 000 200 000 0-2 4 1
Charleston 001 100 000 1-3 12 1
Coke and Jenkins; Presko, Nicholas (6) and Lau.
WP-Nicholas.
HR-Charleston: Stevens.

St. Paul 011 010 0-3 7 1
Louisville 000 010 0-1 7 2
Milliken and Sherry; Maslins, Zanni (6).
Senerchio (8) and Parks.
LP-Maslins.

Second game postponed, rain.
Denver at Wichita postponed, wet grounds.

SATURDAY'S RESULTS

Minneapolis 400 000 100-5 9 2
Charleston 013 010 010-6 11 2
Shipley, Rodriguez (4), Bowman (7) and Jenkins; Talaris and Griffin.
LP-Bowman.
Minneapolis 000 000 000-0 4 0
Charleston 000 000 010-1 5 0
Miller and Jenkins; Daniel and Lau.
HR-Charleston: Lau.

St. Paul 303 001 000-4 11 1
Louisville 300 000 100-3 4 1
Hirsh, Mickens (7) and Howell; Curtis, Fisher (8) and Rapp.
WP-Hirsh; LP-Curtis.
HR-St. Paul: Gray 2, Demeter.

Denver at Wichita postponed, rain.

COLLEGE TENNIS

Ambest 9, Dartmouth 0
Cincinnati 7, Virginia Poly 6
Clark 5, Tufts 4
Colorado A. and M. 6, Denver 1
Denton 9, Muskingum 0
Florida 6, Georgia Tech 3
Harvard 15, Army 0
Kansas 5, Nebraska 2