

INDIANS DROP TWO

Two pitchers—Joe Dahlke and Glen Rosenbaum—were dropped from the Indianapolis roster as the team prepared to leave for Minneapolis to open a two-week road trip. Rosenbaum, the Hoosier from Union Mills, was optioned to Colorado Springs, but Dahlke will remain here pending a transfer by the Chicago White Sox.

Two more hurlers are expected to be cut before the Tribe returns home, reducing the hurling staff to nine, the number that Manager Andy Cohen will carry during the season.
