

Who Were Best of Braves Here? Fans to Pick in 25th Year Contest

W-W's Switch in Monthly Ring Ratings

NEW YORK (UPI) — The list of welterweight contenders was revised sharply in the monthly Ring Magazine ratings released Tuesday.

Federico Thompson of Argentina made the biggest advance in the 147-pound class, vaulting from ninth to fourth place after holding Cuba's Benny (Kid) Paret to a draw in their recent 12-round elimination bout.

PARET WAS advanced from fourth to third. Ralph Dupas of New Orleans slipped from third to seventh while his recent conqueror, Florentino Fernandez of Cuba, regained eighth place.

In still another change, Emile Griffith of New York, previously unranked, earned the No. 10 spot as a reward for his recent upset over sixth-ranked Denny Moyer of Portland, Ore.

In the lightweight class, Carlos Hernandez of Venezuela, who stopped Moore in a non-title scrap last month, was moved up to seventh and Elorde rejoined the group at eighth place.

Who are the greatest performers in Eau Claire's quarter century of baseball in the Northern League?

Would the best outfield have Billy Bruton, Ducky Kwak and Wes Covington? Or would it be Jim Delsing, Steve Ryder and Horace Garner? Or some other combination?

Was Andy Cohen the top manager? How about Johnny Mostil, Bill Adair, Rosy Ryan, or Joe Just?

Was Eau Claire's own Vic Johnson the best left-hander to hurl at Carson Park or Chappell Field?

Eau Claire fans are going to have a chance to pick their all - time all - star lineup as part of the 25th anniversary observance of Northern League baseball here this summer.

The Eau Claire Leader and The Daily Telegram, which have covered the Eau Claire Bears and Braves in organized baseball since 1933, are staging a contest to pick the city's quarter - century all - star lineup.

Fans will have a chance to vote by ballot for their favorites. Voting will start near the opening of the 1960 season May 1 and continue until near midway in the schedule.

A prize list to reward the voters who come closest to the final all - star lineup is being assembled. A valuable transistor radio has already been secured. Season and single - game tickets to Eau Claire Braves games will be included.

To help recall to mind star players of past teams, the Leader and Telegram will run before the contest voting starts a series of articles on standouts at each position.

Tentative plans are for a ballot to pick a manager, two righthanded and one lefthanded pitchers, and one player for each other position.

Ballots will be published in the Leader and Telegram at the time voting is to start. Ballots will be available at Carson Park and at other places to be announced.

A complete list of rules and prizes will be announced soon.

Watch for the first article on players this week.

TV Increases Amateur Puck Interest in U.S.

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — Television should be credited with boosting amateur hockey in the United States to the extent that the U. S. won the Olympic championship this year, starting defenseman Johnny Mayasich believes.

"TEN YEARS ago when I was playing high school hockey, most of the players were coming from a small section of northern Minnesota and my home town of Eveleth was called the 'Hockey Capital of the U. S.,'" Mayasich said.

"Now, there's no one place in Minnesota producing better players than any other section."

The period of development, he said, corresponded to national television of hockey games, and he expected the television coverage of Olympic Games will bring still greater interest in amateur hockey.

Mayasich, now a television advertising salesman, has no plans to turn professional like his Olympic teammate, goalie Jack McCarten.

IN FACT, he said, he might try out for the 1964 U.S. Olympic team.
