What more appropriate decorations for a Sun Carnival Party than jolly round red Mr. Sun himself? A life like paper mache representation of a smiling sun was suspended over the gathering of people in the Ft. Bliss Officers Club to honor Barbie Gobel, Sun Duchess sponsored by the Ft. Bliss Officers' Wives Club and the Ft. Bliss Officers Open Mess.

Radiating from the sun's center were turquoise streamers, along with red and gold stars, intricately made of gold transparent drinking straw.

Other decorations on either side of Bud Crowley's band included white flocked Christmas trees gaily decorated with ornaments handmade by Sue Tate, who wore a pink pants suit.

Heading the receiving line were Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Lloyd L. Leach Jr., assistant commander of the U.S. Army Air Defense School at Ft. Bliss. They were representing Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Richard T. Cassidy, commanding general of Ft. Bliss, who are out of the city. Virginia looked smart in a pink frock in sun tones.

Parents of the honored duchess are Col. and Mrs. Vincent J. Gobel. Barbara looked as lovely as her daughter in white lace. Daughter Barbie, well deserving the honor bestowed on her, had a warm smile for each guest. She wore a blue lace dress and a gift of a white catfish and was escorted by Randy Harville.

President of the Wives Club is Carmen Daley. She, in blue and silver, knitted cocktail gown and husband, Edward were also members of the receiving line as were chairman of the party, Randy McCraw in black corse pants suit with gold trim standing with husband James. The McGraws' daughter, little Betty, was Barbie Gobel's page in the coronation.

Other duchesses receiving guests were Pamela Azar of the El Paso City Panhellenic Council in white corse cocktail dress with gold trim and Carolyn Kerr of the Women's Auxiliary of the El Paso Bar Assn. in black and white. Mrs. Azar's escort was Ballard Shalegh and Mrs. Kerr was escorted by Duke Jones.

Pamela's parents, Philip and Betty, stood next to their daughter. Betty in white lace, Carolyn, Carolyn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Kerr were also present. Nina wearing a royal blue Party committee members and husbands glimpsed in the crowd.

Also in the crowd were Mrs. William M. Haskins, Mrs. Carlton Reid in black and white pants dress, Mrs. Charles Decker, Pat Balle in white corse with black and white lace top with husband Robert, Sharon Melhorn in a white dress, and a white dress in white lace with husband James. Mrs. Leach Jr. was escorted by Duke Jones.

Doctor Researches Children

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—

Belgian mothers report the same kind of difficulties raising children as American mothers, temper tantrums, jealousy, night waking, destructiveness and disobedience.

These are among findings reported by University of California research psychologist Dr. Margerite Honzik, at an international conference on child development at Davos, Switzerland.

"Several research groups have now followed the same children from birth to adolescence, but as far as we know, our findings are among the most comprehensive available on subjects studied from birth to the first decade of their lives," she said.

Dr. Honzik has been at UC's Institute of Human Development for 38 years helping with the studies begun in 1928.
