

Hangartner Helmer Berseth Cohen

production Center, follows the Chieftains and Coach Hal Mulhern through two weeks of high hopes, a string of tournament victories and then, final defeat.

There will also be reflections on the 1956 Osseo team that had its moment of glory in Madison. The show will be repeated Saturday, April 15, at 2:30 p.m.

BUCKSHOT: City product Ted Welke, a senior at Huron, S.D., State, opened the baseball season with a bang last weekend when he hurled a 1-0 shutout of Fargo Mayville, just back from a southern swing..Welke not only whiffed 10 but drove in the winning run in the seventh.....If you've lost track of Andy Cohen, who piloted the then Eau Claire Bears in the late 1940s, he's now 72 and has been baseball coach at Texas-El Paso the last 16 years.....Mark Helmer, who quarterbacked Ellsworth to its first Middle Border football championship in history last fall, has signed a letter of intent to attend the U. of North Dakota at Grand Forks..he is the son of Bill Helmer, slugging first baseman for River Falls Johnnie's softballers in the 1960s.....Sportscaster Dave Kunz has left Stevens Point after four years to become sports director of a radio station in LaGrange, Ga..Kunz, a UW-Eau Claire product, began his career here at WBIZ.....Coach Moose Madson's Hallie Hockey Shop bantams have something of a record going in that they've won 40 straight games without a loss over the past two years in Parks and Rec city hockey play.....Senior Paul Hangartner, a weightman from North, is co-captain of the Luther College track squad this spring.. he took second in the discus in the Iowa Conference title meet last spring.....WIAA Executive Director John Roberts admits Minnesota schools Rochester Mayo and Marshall, Winona and Austin have been approached as possible solutions to Big Rivers Conference problems.....Suzanne Wright, a frosh court ace at Regis last season, made 18 of 25 to win the Wisconsin Knights of Columbus state free throw contest recently at Wausau..in qualifying competition, she made as many as 21 of 25.....and the standard joke going around is that Fall Creek principal Jerry Berseth landed Neenah coach Ron Einerson for a speaker at last night's Cricket Awards banquet only after Beloit's Bernie Barkin refused.. to refresh your memory, Berseth was one of the officials in the state championship game that saw Neenah beat Beloit.
