

Miners to host 'Cats for weekend

Baseball Coach Andy Cohen has been giving the Miner a very close look this past week as they make preparations for their three-game contest against the University of Arizona Wildcats.

The Texas-El Paso club is coming off a very embarrassing three game loss at the hands of the Arizona State Sun Devils in Tempe. However, Coach Cohen says his diamond men are looking "very respectable".

"We are full of spirit and anxious to go," said the coach about the coming contest. But there is some concern over the condition of freshman Jerry Walker who injured a shin when a line drive struck during the ASU contest.

The University diamondmen are presently 7-18 overall and have a 1-8 in the Southern Division of the Western Athletic Conference.

Jeff Hogan will be the starting pitcher Friday afternoon when the Miners open the three-game series. Saturday however, Dave Jannusch and Jerry Walker will open the contest but there is some speculation that Walker will be replaced by Mike Rima if his leg does not feel better.

Cohen has quite a bit to worry about as he contemplates the Wildcats. Especially their batting department.

Arizona's All-American centerfield Dave Stegman will pose a potential threat with his .454 hitting average. So will Don Zimmerman who is next in line with his .360 mark.

"We will have to try and curve their power," related Cohen about the Wildcats strength. Cohen is confident that the El Paso batting corps will better this weekends performance over the Sun Devil contest.

When asked about a home field advantage Cohen stated that there wasn't one. "We have no advantage," he explained. "Because we have not practiced at Dudley Field.

Arizona, coached by Jerry Kindall, is cruising on on a six game winning streak as they enter the Miner domain. The Wildcats are 38-13 for the year with an 8-1 conference record.

Cohen is planning on starting Art Bravo as lead-off batter followed by Keith Dwinell and Terry Dillingham. Glenn Villareal and Joe Dehn will proceed after Dillingham. Followed by Steve Dua will be Keith Rushing, who will be the designated hitter. Bob Alsup and Terry Goodro will bring up the batting order.

Getting ready

Members of the Miner baseball team make final preparations for their contest with Arizona this Friday and Saturday at Dudley Field. (Photo by Angelo Pokluda)

Thinclads awaiting conference race

by Angelo Pokluda

McLaughlin

normally do not compete much

Because

Grimes will not

"Tracy will compete because