Arizona overpowers Miner nine

For Miner baseball coach Andy Cohen it will be another week of determined practice as the diamondmen look back on their three-game loss this weekend to the University of Arizona.

Friday's contest at Dudley field was the worst of the three games as Texas-El Paso was drummed out of the contest 16-0.

Cohen stated it was nobody's fault but his own for the defeat. "I'm the guy who got them together," he said, "They (Arizona) knew how to play ball before they even got to Arizona."

The Wildcats began most their scoring after the second inning. Up until then Miner pitcher Jeff Hogan was able to hold the Arizona batting order to no scoring.

But Arizona's Ron Hassey connected on a home run in the third inning of play and then a deluge of scores came down from Wildcat bat. "There is a difference in ability," said deflated Cohen. "I'm not knocking our kids or anything but theirs (Arizona) are just one better."

By the eighth inning of play Texas-El Paso had witnessed 20 hits, while their batters had not been able to attain third base.

Arizona found a fired up Miner team awaiting them for Saturday's doubleheader.

The first game of the series found Cohen and Co. on the short end of the stick 3-2 but the overall play of the home team was a vast improvement over the previous day.

Glen Villareal provided the opening scoring in the third inning of play when Arizona's second baseman could not handle a throw from right field.

In the fifth inning the Miners were still holding their own until Catcher Dave Patt bobbled two poor pitches by Jerry Walker. One runner came in and another waited on third.

Another Arizona score was batted in and the Wildcats walked away with a 3-1 win.

Texas-El Paso was winning going 3-2 into the ninth inning. However, the Wildcats exploded for eight runs off of Dave Jannusch's pitching and left the Miners eating their dust with a 10-3 final.

"I thought we played a good ball," said Cohen. "Jannusch pitched real well for us until he ran out of gas," he added.

ROTC takes softball crown

The ROTC intramural softball team stormed its way to the championship April 29, crushing the Bums 15-4 for the independent division championship and topping fraternity titlist Kappa Sigma for the campus crown.

ROTC did its scoring in bunches, sending five runs across the plate in the second and third innings against the Bums and exploding for six in the third frame against Kappa Sigma. The pitching game also played a big role in the victories, as ROTC pitcher Anton retired the Bums in order in the fourth inning and set KS down one-two-three in both fourth and fifth.

FIRST GAME

ROTC 15, BUMS 4

ROTC 055 311 0 -- 15

BUMS 102 001 0 -- 4

SECOND GAME

ROTC 11, KAPPA SIGMA 4

KS 010 003 0 -- 4

ROTC 126 101 x -- 11
