Denver Eyes Big Series

By Associated Press

Denver Manager Andy Cohen leads with his ace right-hander, John Gabler, tonight against Omaha in an effort to put Denver back on top of the American Association.

The Bears, idle last night, tumbled out of the lead for the first time since May 3 as Charleston moved in front with a 7-4 triumph over Indianapolis in 14 innings. Last-place Louisville crushed Wichita 12-6.

Denver entertains Omaha in the first of a four-game series that likely will decide if Denver will be the site of the All-Star game July 14.

Charleston battled up hill, tying the score twice, before overtaking Indianapolis in the 14th. George Spencer's two-hit relief pitching blanked Indianapolis the last seven innings. Spencer also contributed one of the decisive singles in the 14th.

Louisville rode to victory over Wichita with a 6-run sixth in which five runs scored after an error at third on a play that would have retired the side.
