

Barons Riddled By Pels

Little imagination is needed to picture the dazed Birmingham Barons sitting back today and relishing the thought that now it is the Atlanta Crackers' turn to see what they can do with those pepper-pot Pels from New Orleans.

Andy Cohen's crew, who knocked the Barons out of the Southern Assn. lead by winning four of five games, now move east to tackle the new pacesetter, Atlanta, in a three-game series starting tonight.

Don Kildoo completed the humiliation of Birmingham with a three-hit masterpiece for a 10-0 New Orleans victory.

Jim Rice, who had a perfect four-for-four night, slammed a lead-off homer for New Orleans in the first and with Kildoo's brilliant pitching that was the only run really necessary. But the Pels riddled Baron pitching for 11 more hits, including a homer by Pete Naton, a triple and double by Gail Henley and another triple by John Powers.
