

Touchdown Club Adds New Look

The Downtown Touchdown Club, a booster organization supporting the University of Texas at El Paso athletic programs, has joined the Miners in taking on a "new look" for the 1977 campaign.

One of the changes is new president Bill Stevens. A former Miner quarterback, Stevens has taken on the challenge of leading the booster organization this fall.

"I believe the booster organization can make a significant contribution to the Miner football program," Stevens said. "Coach Bill Michael and his staff are beginning to build a new program at UTEP and our support will help them accomplish their goal of a Western Athletic Conference championship."

Lauda Captures Victory In Holland's Grand Prix

ZANDVOORT, The Netherlands (AP) — Niki Lauda of Austria won the Dutch Grand Prix in a Ferrari Sunday after two leading rivals — British world champion James Hunt and America's Mario Andretti — collided on the fifth lap.

Hunt's McLaren was forced out of the race. Soon after, Andretti in a JPS-Lotus also quit with engine trouble.

The two cars collided while cornering on the fifth of 75 laps of the twisting three-mile circuit. Later the two drivers blamed each other.

Hunt said Andretti tried to pass him on the outside, an aim he claimed was impossible. The rear suspension of his McLaren collapsed in the collision and the 29-year-old Briton stormed into the American's pits to complain about Andretti's move. However, Andretti told reporters, "I was driving on the outside trying to get past when he (Hunt) just drove over my wheel and knocked himself out."

With two major threats out of the race, Lauda took over the lead in the 21st lap and cruised to his third Grand Prix victory of the season. He was timed in 1 hour, 41 minutes and 45.93 seconds at an average speed of 116 miles an hour.

Lauda, the 1975 world champion, admitted the removal of Hunt and Andretti helped him to victory.

"Of course it helped me!" Lauda told reporters.

Touchdown Club meetings have also been changed. This year's meetings will move to Thursdays at the Elks Lodge, 1211 Cliff Street. Each week the meeting will get underway at 11:30 a.m. The first meeting this year is scheduled for Sept. 8 and the Miner football squad will be the guests of the club.

The price of the luncheon will be $2.50 per person and membership fees will be $15. The total package, including membership and luncheons, will be $150, a savings of $7.50.

"By moving our schedule from Monday to Thursday, we will have the advantage of previewing our upcoming opponent in more depth as well as reviewing the previous week's results," Stevens commented. "The visiting sports information director will be on hand to talk about his team and the Miner coaches will review the UTEP plans."

The Touchdown Club was founded in 1948 by a few staunch Miner fans. In 1950, the late Mike Brumbelow helped form three membership teams and the organization suddenly expanded to over 1,000 members.

The purpose of the Touchdown Club is to create enthusiasm among fans, which encourages attendance at the games, sale of season tickets and support of the team.

Funds raised from membership dues are contributed to the athletic department through the Miner Scholarship and Development Fund.

In addition to supporting the football team, the Touchdown Club has meetings honoring coach Don Haskins and the basketball team, coach Andy Cohen and the baseball team and the coach Ted Banks and the track team.
