

Miners Hope For Another Good Omen

ALBUQUERQUE — Andy Cohen's U.T. El Paso Miners awoke to cloudy skies today and prepared to face New Mexico's Lobos in a Western Athletic Conference baseball game after losing to Albuquerque University 6-4 yesterday.

It was the Miners' second loss to the Dons here. Cohen may have seen in that as a good omen. His Miners lost two in a row to Albuquerque in El Paso and then won eight straight.

COHEN LAUDED the pitching of Bill Disselhorst in the Miners' loss yesterday to Albuquerque. "He let Albuquerque hit a couple of 'unconcentrated' balls which cost us the game" said Andy.

These two "unconcentrated" pitches were hit for homers by pitcher Mike Bonilla and centerfielder Al Cruz.

The Miners themselves couldn't get hits with runners on bases. "We had men on
