Jim Greggerson, Ysleta's 6-4 lanky hurler, has signed a national letter of intent to attend the University of Texas at El Paso this fall. The southpaw pitcher was offered a four year scholarship.

Greggerson helped the Ysleta Indians to a 9-1 district record this past season and also pitched the Tribesmen to a victory over the Midland Lee Rebels who came in second in AAAA state competition.

YSLETA COACH Bill Parsons tabbed Greggerson as one of the best pitchers in the state.

Greggerson averaged 12 strike outs a game in compiling a 5-1 district record. He also fanned ten batters a game in an 10-3 season record.

GREGGERSON was the only unanimous choice named to the 1-AAAA All-District squad this fall. He had an earned run average of .035 in district play and lettered three years in baseball. Besides being one of the captains of the team, Greggerson was undefeated at home in four years.
