

Raiders Here In One Week

T-minus one week and counting for The University of Texas at El Paso diamondmen.

Come Feb. 14-15, Coach Andy Cohen's baseball team will be expected to show up at Dudley Field fully dressed and ready to tangle with the Red Raiders of Texas Tech, a frightening experience in itself.

Not only do the Miners have to face the Southwest Conference team both days, but U.T. El Paso must challenge Tech in back-to-back doubleheaders beginning at 1 p.m. both days.

"I don't know much about Texas Tech, but I know it'll come to town with a good team," said Cohen when reminded that the SWC mentors tabbed the Red Raiders to finish seventh this season in conference action.

"The coaches were probably going on Tech's record last year because it wasn't too good," added Cohen. "Don't worry, Tech will be enough for us to handle next weekend."

Two Miner outfielders, freshman Bob Alsop and sophomore Jimmy Walsh have missed practice the past few days due to injuries but Cohen speculates their return will come before the season opener.

"Walsh is recovering from a hamstring pull and Alsop has been out with a strained back but we should have a healthy team for Tech barring some unfortunate accident that may occur," Cohen said.

Referring to a possible starting lineup, Cohen named Dave Nance at shortstop, Glenn Villarreal at third, Terry Dillingham will play across the field at first and either Art Bravo or Allan Morris will start at second.

The outfield could possibly have Steve Dau, Joey Pennies and Keith Rushing starting. Joe Dehn will be behind the plate but Cohen warned that Randy Larson and Joe Sagapelli are also battling for the position.

Starting pitchers for the four games will come from hurlers Roy Stringer, George Landreth, Jeff Hogan, Dan Mod-linski and Ron Wrobel. "I don't know yet who'll start the first game for us yet. I'll probably wait until Tech takes its warm-up batting practice to decide," explained Cohen.

Cohen will run his squad through a doubleheader exhibition at 1 p.m. Saturday at Hugo Meyer field against a group of stars from the El Paso Men's League.

"We're going to still have to rely on our pitching to lead the way until the hitters come around. The team didn't get to bat the past five days due to all the rain and we're not hitting as well as I would like," concluded Cohen.

Run-For-Life Holds Banquet

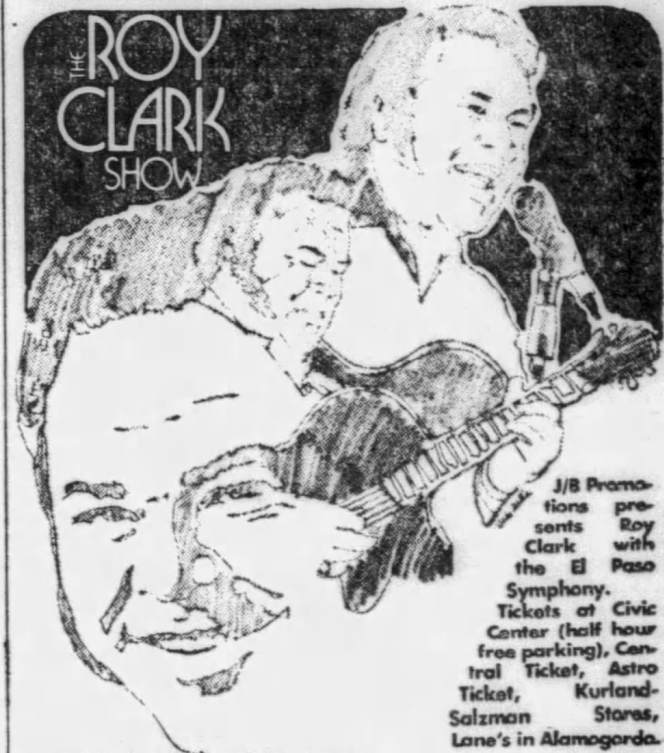

The Annual Run-For-Your Life banquet sponsored by the YMCA will be held at 7 p.m. Friday at the Bassett Rowway Inn.

Ralph Scoppa of Scoppa Associates will be the guest speaker and Tim Dalton will be Master of Ceremonies.

Jim Quiocho, Director of Health and Physical Education at the YMCA will award T-shirts, plaques and trophies to persons who have jogged or swam at least 100 miles during the last year at the YMCA.
