

Miners Host Arizona State

Sun Devils Loaded With Talent Again

Andy Cohen is hoping that last week's mistakes against the University of Arizona won't haunt his Miner baseball team against Arizona State this weekend.

Losing all three Western Athletic Conference games against Arizona was enough to discourage a beaver from building a dam. Worst of all, Cohen believes the WAC's hardest competition is yet to come.

"ASU is loaded with talent," commented the coach of the University of Texas at El Paso baseball team. "From what I've heard, Arizona State is better than Arizona."

If that's the case, U.T. El Paso will be in for quite a battle while trying to capture its first Western Athletic Conference victory of the 1975 season.

ASU and Arizona are currently tied in the Southern Division with identical 3-0 records while the Miners and New Mexico are yet to break the ice. The Lobos fell three times to ASU last week.

"Last week's games were kind of disheartening," admitted Cohen. "It seemed like the kids went to pieces. We made so many mental mistakes and we lost our discipline, baseball sense and so forth."

"I hope we snap out of it cuz we need to win some more games," added the Miner mentor. "The kids are kind of discouraged and I'm hoping we'll regroup and be like ourselves."

But what Cohen is asking for may be too much when you consider Arizona State University is the second-ranked baseball team in the country.

Leading off for the Sun Devils will be designated hitter Rick

Peters who is batting .286 with 14 doubles to his credit. Bob Pate, left fielder, bats second and carries a .267 mark.

Then the power of ASU's lineup comes to light. Second baseman Tom Sain has a hefty .338 average and first baseman Clay Westlake comes in with a .295 mark and four homers.

Batting fifth for Arizona State is shortstop Jerry Maddox, team leader in batting with a .403 average while sharing the home run title with eight taters.

Mike Colbern, a .300 batter, is sixth while Gary Allenson follows with a .328 mark and six home runs. Centerfielder Ken Landreaux will carry a .297 mark and eight round trippers into Friday's 1 p.m. game at Dudley Field. R. J. Harrison bats ninth.

Friday's starter for Coach Jim Brock will be untried Rick Brewster. The right-hander has appeared in only three games while posting a 1-0 record and a 0.71 earned run average for 12 2-3 innings. He has 12 strikeouts.

The doubleheader Saturday between the two teams is set for noon with Greg Cochran starting the seven inning game while Tom Van Der Meersche will be on the mound during the nine inning second contest.

Coach Cohen plans to begin the three-game series with Ron Wrobel, a southpaw from Chicago, Ill.

"I'll tell you one thing. We'll beat either Arizona or Arizona State at least one time this season and I'll be on the mound when we do," predicted Wrobel.

The freshman hurler developed a blister on his throwing finger up in Tucson last weekend and was forced to exit the game earlier than usual.

Wednesday night against the El Paso Diablos, Wrobel worked one inning and retired the side without a run scoring as El Paso clubbed U.T. El Paso 12-2.

"All we have to do is regain our confidence," warned Cohen, "and we should start winning some games."
