

Manager Resigns Position

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) —Monty Basgall resigned Wednesday as manager of the El Paso Sun Dodgers of the Texas League. Basgall said the "emotional strain" of running a baseball club was too much of a burden.

Stan Wasiak, manager of the Daytona Beach Club of the Florida State League, will take over as Sun Dodgers' manager Thursday.

Andy Cohen, first base coach of the Sun Dodgers, directed the team Wednesday night against the Alexandria (La.) Aces in El Paso.

Basgall plans to return to scouting, a job he had from 1959 until he became manager of the Albuquerque Dodgers last season. He also has been an infield instructor in the Los Angeles Dodger organization.

William P. Schweppe, farm director for the Los Angeles Dodgers, said Basgall was leaving the Sun Dodgers without pressure either from Los Angeles or the El Paso front office. Schweppe said, in fact, that he had tried to get Basgall to stay on.

The Sun Dodgers are in second place in the Texas League's western division, three games behind Amarillo.
