

Loudermilk Scored 75 Points

Loudermilk was at Big Spring from 1954 to 1958. He was All-State two years then All-Conference at SMU in 1961 and 1962. He once scored 75 points in a high school game.

Arnette was a high scorer both in high school and the University of Texas, where he was All-Conference in 1960 and scored 920 points in three years. His high game was 47 points. He also played on the U.S. Olympic (basketball team and was with the professional Cincinnati Royals three years.

Gomez was a great one at Jeff Davis in 1935-37 and at Rice. He was offered a pro contract but was in the Marines and passed it up.

These five will make a total of 20 inducted into the Hall of Fame since it started four years ago. Five are inducted every year representing different eras since the first Texas Interscholastic League basketball championship won by El Paso in 1921. Andy Cohen, who later had a long baseball career, was the star of that team.

We think they're making far too much fuss over whether Henry Aaron breaks Babe Ruth's home run record in Cincinnati or Atlanta. Bud Harrelson of the New York Mets suggests he do it in Milwaukee, where he hit more homers than in Atlanta. It doesn't make any difference where, the historic blow will count just as much.
