

14 THE NASHVILLE TENNESSEAN Tuesday Morning, April 24, 1956

New Orleans Smacks Vols, 12 to 8

The argument about New Orleans manager Andy Cohen, right, and Umpire Neil Stronach, was brought on by a decision on the play at first.

ONE MAN'S OPINION
The 1956 Derby Has No Lid, Ten Are in and More in Sight
By RAYMOND JOHNSON

Ten starters are practically certain for the Kentucky Derby Saturday week and there is a possibility that the field may be increased to an even dozen after the Blue Grass Thursday and the Derby Trial a week from today.

That's the word from Louisville as Head Man, No Regrets and High King lead the way to join Count Boy, Needles, Fabian, Terraz, Pinter, Lea, Count Chic and Ben A. Jones, all of which are already on Kentucky roll. . . . After the Blue Grass, Branning Right, Countmand and possibly Gun Shot or some other outcast might be added.

Nashua Is Not Around To Scare Anybody This Year

At any rate, there is not much possibility of the field being as small as last year when Nashua scared all but nine rivals out. . . . He didn't scare out Swamp and his failure to do that cost the late Willie Woodson a Kentucky Derby.

Native Dancer's appearance in 1935 raised the field to be reduced to 11 starters. One of those was the long shot Dark Star, which set such a fast pace that Eric Grier and the Vanderbilt colt was never able to catch him.

Only one favorite, Hill Gail, which shipped 15 rivals in 1952, has won since Citation ran away from five rivals on the Churchill Downs slop in 1948.

Here is the field from the eyes of Jerry S. Serner, Louisville Courier-Journal turf expert:

THE NASHVILLE Vols lost an old-fashioned Saturday ball game to the New Orleans Pelicans last night 12 to 8. The Vols, who were 1-1 in their first two games, were hit hard by a combination of a powerful lineup and a pitching staff that was in the midst of a comeback.

Derby Also-Rans . . . Say, Who Are They, Anyway?

That's the way the 1956 Kentucky Derby looks now. . . . The lines are pretty sharply drawn between Needles and Career Boy. . . . But at the time last spring they were saying the Derby would be between Nashua and Summer Tan. . . . So, who's not given as much consideration as Terraz is now. . . . He was just another horse late last April. . . . But when the sun set last May 7, he was the champion. . . . By the way, what ever became of Summer Tan? . . . He was my choice.

Can It Happen In Memphis? . . . (It Happened Here)

Andy Cohen, the popular New Orleans manager, thinks the Memphis Chick is going to be tough to head unless some of the others have more success against them than the Pelicans. . . . They have dropped six of eight meetings this spring. . . . "The club (Memphis) was almost at the start of the season, and by the time the others got squared away this year, it will be hard to handle," Andy says. "It has the right combination—enough experience, along with good young players."

That's the combination Eric White and Bill McCarthy thought they had for Nashville last year. . . . But it hasn't worked out that way. . . . Name of the previous season's champion is still in the race and some of the youngsters haven't produced the way they play in exhibition games indicated they would. . . . And it adds up to dismal disappointment.

Trade Kaline? This Lady Will Give 'Em All Away!

Wonder if any of you mothers are having the same trouble that worries Mrs. John F. Dean of Oak Park, Mich. "My son has chewed gum and blown bubbles with it sticks out of his ears and hangs everywhere, from his hair, from the ceiling, from the door knob, window panes, vestial bibs," she writes H. G. Salinger of the Detroit News. "I'd be so glad to be a mother for a picture of a guy named Kaline."

"Mama," he says, "tossing me a toothy stock of bubble gum baseball pictures, how many of these should I trade for H. G. Salinger? Now, I say, I'd trade the whole sack, I never heard of these players."

"Crestfallen, he walks away and I'm doomed to a life of bubble gum. Life is not a bowl of cherries for me. It's bubble gum, on chairs, on floors, in the bathroom—everywhere. Deliverance, please and quick!"
