

DENVER, Nov. 12 (UPI)—Andy Cohen announced yesterday that he is resigning as manager of the Denver Bears baseball team.

Cohen said he will take a position as sales representative for the Coors Brewery, of Denver, in El Paso, Texas.

Denver finished fourth in the American Association standings last year after Cohen's one-year tenure. The club announced recently that its working agreement with the New York Yankees had been terminated.

Cohen graduated from Alabama University in 1925 and started playing with Waco, Texas, of the Texas League. He graduated to Buffalo of the International League and later to the New York Giants, where he played for two and one-half years before entering service during World War II.

He returned to baseball as a manager after the war, serving successively at Pine Bluff, Ark.; Dayton, Ohio; Eau Claire, Wis.; Denver of the Western League; New Orleans, and Indianapolis before coming back to Denver.
