

Lineups Selected For Friday Game

New Orleans field boss Andy Cohen, an outstanding star for Waco almost 30 years ago, this morning named his batting order for the Pels' big game with Pittsburgh and thus set the stage for Friday's visit of the major leaguers to Katy Park.

Game time will be at 3-p. m.

Tickets are on sale at the ball park. They are $1.10 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Genial Andy, has just secured the bulk of his 1956 club from a meeting with Pittsburgh's big brass which lasted most of Wednesday night, said he will start at least one ex-Waco Pirate and have two or three more ready to step in at an early moment.

John Powers, a home run king at Waco, will be in right field for the Pels when they take the field against Bobby Bragan's up-and-coming Pirates. Pitchers Myron Hoffman and Don Kildoo will be among the pitchers, and first baseman Dutch Van Burkleo and T. R. Taylor are expected to be available for pinch hitting duties.

The New Orleans team will have Earl Weaver at second base, Dick Birone at shortstop, Harry Fisher at third base, Dave Jacobs at first, Harry Dunlop behind the bat, Powers, Emil Panko and Jack Wilson in the outfield and Don Irquhart as the starting pitcher.

Bragan announced his team for the Waco game several days ago. It will have Preston Ward at first, Curt Roberts at second, Eddie O'Brien at short and Dick Cole at third. In the outfield will be Bob Skinner, Lee Walls and Roberto Clemente. Danny Kravitz will catch, and the ace of his staff, Bob Friend, will start and perhaps go all the way.

That lineup includes Friend, Kravitz, Skinner and Walls as Waco graduates.

Clemente promises to be one of the bigger attractions. Drafted out of the Brooklyn organization a season ago, he developed rapidly for Pittsburgh last year and now has a starting outfield job nailed down for opening day.

Yesterday he put on a batting show against Kansas City in New Orleans, getting three hits in three times at bat to spark the Pirates past the A's, 4-2.

Friend, of course, is the big name. The National League's most effective hurler last year despite his team's lowly station, the former Waco standout has been going even better this spring. He whipped Brooklyn a week ago, and then on his last outing hurled a four-hit victory over the A's.

He is a near-cinch for the opening day assignment against the Giants on April 17.

This will be Friend's first appearance at Katy Park since 1950, when he pitched superbly for Waco and climaxed his tour of duty here with a no-hit, no-run game against Wichita Falls.
