

Wind, Dust Nix Miners

High winds and blowing dust forced postponement of the University of Texas at El Paso and McNeese State baseball game Wednesday at Dudley Field. Remainder of the series is slated with a doubleheader at noon Thursday, weather permitting.

Coach Andy Cohen will probably give the starting assignment to Mike Kruta, with either Steve Klein or Sam Cox seeing duty the second contest.

The Miners are now 21-11 on the season, taking two-of-three from Lamar University earlier this week while McNeese was splitting with the Aggies of New Mexico State.

U.T. El Paso heads for Tucson Friday and Saturday for a three-game road show against the Wildcats of Arizona in Western Athletic Conference play.
