

Miner 1974 Baseball Ends With NM Lobos

Baseball '74 offers the University of Texas at El Paso Miners one more chance to keep the season record above water, as they host New Mexico in a three-game Western Athletic Conference homestand at Dudley Field Friday and Saturday.

The three games will officially close out the 1974 baseball season for Coach Andy Cohen and his surprising team which again looked good in pre-conference play but couldn't hold it when the powerful Arizona, Arizona State and Lobos teams took over.

U.T. El Paso is in the loop basement with a 2-13 WAC record, having dropped three games to the Wildcats last week by scores of 10-0, 5-0 and 27-6. Arizona tops the WAC Southern Division with a 13-2, 5-0 and 27-6. Arizona tops the WAC Southern Division with a 13-2 record to go with the team's impressive 53-4 slate, giving them the top collegiate ranking in the country.

The Miners need to win a pair from the Lobos which would keep the won-loss record at 26-25. This will tie the school's all-time game record of 26 wins set in 1970. More than that, it'll give them a .500 per cent for the season.

The Lobos took a 5-4 victory from New Mexico Highlands Tuesday in Albuquerque. Mike Pettenuzzo and Ron Smith each getting a homer in the win.

UNM brings to El Paso a .238 team hitting average in the WAC (Miners have a .253) and a 7.11 pitching earned run average. Ron Adair is their leading moundman with 4-3 and a 3.85 ERA. Kent Seaman has a 4-4 record and a 4.33 ERA.

Adair also is their leading batsman, having a .333 average off a total of 15 hits good for six RBI's, six doubles and one home run.

The first game is set for 2 p.m. Friday with the doubleheader 1 p.m. Saturday to close out the season at Dudley Field.
