

Keeping In LINE—
Eagles Baseball Dinner Here
Earns Repeat Performance

By EUGENE FITZGERALD

The second annual Fargo Eagle's baseball dinner, held Tuesday, brought a lot of favorable comment.

The noon luncheon sponsored by the Fargo Business and Professional Women's Club, which attracted 138 guests, was an eye-opener. It goes without saying that this initial effort calls for an encore.

The Eagles were set up for 300 at the evening dinner, not counting the head table. The total of 775 was surprising. The thing to remember about both the noon luncheon and the evening dinner is that there were no ticket-selling campaigns. Undoubtedly, both could have been 50 per cent larger if there had been a selling campaign.

People came to both the noon luncheon and the evening dinner with no urging.

There are still some bugs in staging the evening dinner, despite two efforts. The biggest problem is to find enough seating, which would enable the sponsors to bring in more big names.

It's not stretching the truth to say that plans for the 1959 dinner already are under way.

The Fargo Eagles dinner got a "good press" in the Minneapolis Morning Tribune, the Minneapolis Star and the St. Cloud Daily Times.

Tom Briere of the Minneapolis papers made his first visit to Fargo - Moorhead. He was favorably impressed.

Halsey Hall, the master of ceremonies, who is a veteran on the baseball beat in Minneapolis, said he never saw a dinner which drew so well from his own league.

Frank Farrington of the St. Cloud Daily Times, said: "Mid-winter hot stove baseball rallies are great places to hear funny yarns and renew acquaintanceships suffering from a sort of winter freezeup."

"The one at Fargo Tuesday, though, was confusing. I'd have thought it was nothing less than a triple-A gathering had I not known better. And Hugo Weyers, president of the St. Cloud club, had similar impressions."

The attractions, the speakers, the 'celebrities' were big league. Any St. Cloud fan would have enjoyed it. And this is written mainly to make those not there jealous."

If Farrington was impressed with Tuesday's fete, he should be here next season, if plans as outlined now materialize.

Joe McDermott has made some rather big promises. The Yankee area scout left no doubt about whether he likes it here, and he wasn't evasive about his plans to have the Yankees give Fargo-Moorhead a strong initial entry in the Northern League.

Ken Silvestri, the new P-M manager, hasn't promised any pennant. I'm glad he stressed that he says he will have a respectable team, which is something of which the community may be proud in case they're not winning.

The guess from this corner is that Silvestri made a hit with those he met here.

Andy Cohen, the Denver manager, is glad to be in the Yankee system for the first time. He proved he was really big time with his financial demands for his appearance here. He wants to see Fargo-Moorhead be successful, and even went so far as to say he'd be willing to bring the Bears here for an exhibition game if the American Assn. schedule permits.

Everyone seems happy with the 1958 dinner, despite the fact two of the principals, Tommy Thomas, Minneapolis general manager, and Pete Bradbury, Northern League president, were unable to appear here because of illness.

But wait! If you hear about the 1959 plans, along about next Dec. 1.

There was nothing even remotely fishy about the upset victory which the NDU scored over the S. D. State Jackrabbits at Grand Forks Wednesday.

It was the first defeat in the North Central Conference basketball race for the Jackrabbits, and should simplify matters for the NDU Coyotes, who may need only a split in the series with the Rabbits.

The Sioux got out of hand in the first half. But S. D. State caught up and went ahead. But the Sioux baited from behind and were pulling away at the finish.

NDU put on a polished defensive performance, and the Sioux were shooting well, having 39 per cent against 40 for the invaders. Both teams had big men handicapped by injury. Although he wasn't at top efficiency, big Kent Hyde was effective for the Jackrabbits.

But the Sioux had Bill Minson on the bench more than usual.

Perhaps the biggest incentive for Victory was the fact that the Sioux went to Minot for a Jan. 25 game and S. D. State didn't put in an appearance.

Certainly no one questions that Louie Hogan is getting the most out of the talent he has.

Main LINE: Concordia's wrestling squad, beaten by S. D. State in a Moorhead match before the holidays, will face the Jackrabbits again Saturday at Brookings.

Ed Van Dava of the Grand Forks VFW bowling team, recently picked up the 7-0 split in a league match.

Abe Stuber, former Iowa State football coach, is among the candidates for the vacant post at Iowa State Teachers College. Arch Steel, Iowa State freshman coach; Lou Brethbach, ISTC assistant; A. J. Butch; Stella of Davenport and George Dutcher of Waterloo West are other candidates.

Steve Gorman, former president of the Fargo - Moorhead Twin City League is named, left no doubt about his right to be known as Fargo - Moorhead's Mr. Baseball. He was the only one introduced at Tuesday's baseball dinner who was given a standing ovation.

Roger Gebhart of Wahpeton, NDAC varsity football guard for three seasons, has accepted an offer for a tryout with the Regina Roughriders in July.

Al Usher, new field manager of the Winnipeg Goldeyes, is the father of eight children, four boys and four girls.

The New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Assn. carry four rookies on their roster, Charlie Tyra, Guy Sparrow, Brendan McCann and Larry Pried.
