

Tribe Gains Prestige by Dumping Leaders

By LESTER KOELLING

There isn't too much wrong with a club that can knock off the league leaders in two of three games and gain a berth in the first division.

Against what is regarded as the best pitching staff in the American Association, the Indianapolis Indians scored 15 runs on 26 hits over the weekend to win, 8-7. Koelling and 4-3, from a pace - setting Wichita while losing, 6-3, after going into the ninth with a 3-3 tie. The Tribe hits included three homers and seven dou-

All that is necessary, it appears, is for the pitching to settle down, and the man who can help make that possible will be in town for several days. He is Hugh Mulcahy, a scout for the Chicago White Sox who also serves as pitching coach where help is needed.

Mulhady was an observer yesterday when relief pitching became necessary in both games, running the string of starting failures to 13 straight games. The last Tribe hurler to go the route was Bill DuFour against Denver April 30. Previously, it was Ed Szczyzewski against St. Paul on April 27, and Szczyzewski will get an opportunity to do the same in the series opener with Charleston tonight.

BULLPEN GAMBLE BACKFIRES IN LOSS

Lack of control kept Barry Latman in hot water throughout the first game yesterday, but the youngster managed to hang on and yield only six hits in the first eight innings. But when a safe bunt followed his fifth walk to start the ninth, Manager Andy Cohen called on the bullpen brigade, only to lose on the gamble.

Manager Cohen has been sticking close to the book in his pitching switches, but hasn't had too much luck with the formula. He relieved Latman with Tom Flanigan, a southpaw, to pitch to the left-swinging Ev Joyner, but the pinch-hitter dribbled a single through the infield to break the 3-all deadlock. Another run-scoring single followed and then, against George Spencer, Wichita pulled off a squeeze play to complete its first-game conquest.

TINNEY WINS IN FIRST START

The pitching changes worked out a little better for Manager Cohen in the second game although Spencer, appearing in his 14th game, was tagged for a homer after relieving Roy Tinney. The latter, making his first showing for the Indians since acquired from the Boston Red Sox via San Francisco, was the winner in a 5½-inning outing during which he gave up six hits. But the game didn't end until Flanagan appeared again to retire the last batter on a popout with the tying run on second base.

Ron Jackson, who hit a home run across 16th Street Saturday night, cracked a bases-full double for the big blow in the second game yesterday. His weekend hitting enabled Big Stretch to gain the club leadership in RBIs with 20.

Don Prohovich's first homer of the season got the Indians back into the first game after trailing, 0-3. Don's blast came with Vince Garcia on base, and in the next inning, Garcia's second double of the game scored Jim Delsing to give the Indians a 3-all tie.

The Indians missed their big chance in the fifth and sixth innings of the opener when seven hits netted only three runs. Oddly, in the other seven innings, the Tribe obtained only one hit.
