

By LESTER KOELLING

There's work to be done and the Indianapolis Indians are come to do it.

Seventeen games in the next 6 days is the menu at Victory field and during that time the Indians will be shaping their future as regards the first division. They have the hitting and the fielding. But do they have the pitching?

Some light should be shed on the matter with the Indians plucking up against some of the toughest competition in the league. The long home stand will open tonight in a double-header with Minneapolis, smarting under two losses to St. Paul yesterday.

Koelling

After single games with the Millers tomorrow night and Sunday afternoon, the Indians will have St. Paul, Denver and Omaha, in that order, on their hands. It's a tough assignment for any club and a great opportunity for the Indians to prove themselves.

Manager Andy Cohen hopes to have the Indians back at full strength for tonight's twin bill, which will feature fireworks between games. There were fireworks in Louisville last night, too, but it was unscheduled explosives that pleased a crowd of 4,008 the most.

The lowly Colonels, winners of only seven games all season, tromped the proud Indians twice, 8-4 and 6-2.

The effects of that unexpected double loss to the cellar occupants will be interesting to note. Will it toss the Tribe into a tailspin? Or can the Indians recover their equilibrium?

Shocking as the defeats were, they were deserving. The Colonels, obviously inspired by the large crowd and its tremendous enthusiasm and encouragement, performed like champions as they outplayed the Indians in every department. They were keyed to the highest pitch and played it out to the hilt.

The degree of Louisville's inspiration was emphasized by the pitching of Al Corwin, a castoff from Minneapolis, who hurled one of the best games of his career. But in fairness to the Indians, it was not so easy. It required several spectacular fielding plays by Louisville outfielders and infielders for him to hurl 5½ hitless innings.

His dreams of a no-hitter were ruined by Jose Valdiviel-

T

Bea

Garc

Jack

Mele

Chris

Rom

Willi

Vald

Lalm

DuFr

aHei

Te

Ma

McC

Dun

Brav

Mac

Phil

Rive

V. R

Rudi

Indi

Lou

ma

Jac

Ma

V.

run

fly-

Ma

to

bat

Lat

Dul

Ruc

Rut

Um

Tin

Val

Bea

Jac

Ch

Ma

Fre

Go

Ha

Sz

Dul

aK

Tin

bD

Mc

Mc

Du

Br

Mc

Ph

Ri

Pa

Ca

In

Lo

hc

Ch

D

pl

bi

Sz

D

Ti

Ce

pi

re

al

S

V

E

N

C

S

Y

A

A

S

t

A

Copyright © 2025 Newspapers.com. All Rights Reserved.