

"McDonald was really out to win that game," said Manager Andy Cohen. "He felt terrible that he couldn't continue. We're going to miss him. I'm afraid he's going to be out for quite a while."

McDonald's fine work in the early innings was continued by Tony Ponce in a capable and impressive relief assignment. Batted out of the box in the third inning, Sunday, by Minneapolis, Ponce came back with a five-hitter in 6½ innings and gave up just one run, that unearned.
