

All Indians to Show Kids How in Clinic

Calling all Little Leaguers, Junior Baseballers, and all other future Major Leaguers.

Tuesday and Wednesday you're in for a treat at Victory Field. All of the Indianapolis Indians will be on hand to personally show you how to play baseball at the fifth annual boys baseball clinic sponsored by The Indianapolis News.

There are no tricks and you can actually work out with your Indians on the Victory Field diamond. It's free so make sure you are on hand Tuesday morning at 9:30 a.m. if you're between 8 and 11 years of age. If you're 12 to 16, come out Wednesday at 9:30 a.m.

Manager Andy Cohen will open the clinic and then you'll go to the position you want to learn how to play.

If you have a uniform, wear it. If you don't, come out anyway. Bring your glove and catcher equipment if you play behind the plate. Wear tennis shoes or spikes because you may be taught how to slide.
