

2 Separate Programs For Tribe Today

An unprecedented double program has been set for Victory Field today with afternoon and night games scheduled.

Last night's game and the pre-game show starring comedienne Dagmar were rained out. The pre-game show will be held tonight at 7 o'clock.

TRIBE GENERAL Manager Ray Johnston has announced there will be separate admissions. The afternoon tilt will start at 2:30, the night game at 7:45.

The 7:45 contest will be the makeup game when reserve and box-seat tickets from last night will be honored.

In addition to Dagmar, there will be musical acts. A jazz concert will begin at 6 o'clock.

Manager Andy Cohen of the Tribe selected Southpaw Tom Flanigan to pitch the afternoon affair and Barry Latman the night tilt.

FLANIGAN has a four-game winning streak for his 7-3 record while Latman has captured three in a row to give him 11-7.

Frank Barnes, who set the American Association record for consecutive scoreless innings this year, will be the Omaha hurler in the matinee attraction. His standing is 9-7. Glen Stabelfeld, at 5-5, probably will work for the Cardinals tonight. (M.G.)
