

Tribesmen Play Rain-Called Tie

By MAX GREENWALD

Indianapolis was within one out of defeat and within one hit of victory in the eighth inning last night when play was stopped because of rain.

After about a half-hour wait, the game with Minneapolis was called. And the score reverted back to the seventh inning for a 2-2 tie. It will be replayed at Minneapolis later this month.

For the official seven frames, the tilt was a mound duel between the Tribe's Jim McDonald and Southpaw Pete Burnside, each allowing seven hits.

BURNSIDE, who had eight strikeouts, retired the first 11 batters. Then, with two out, in the fourth, singles by Ron Jackson, Sam Mele and John Romano provided an Indianapolis run.

In the fifth, Jose Valdivielso tripled off the right-field wall and stole home. The theft was a dandy as it caught the Millers asleep and Catcher Bob Schmidt sheepishly made a half-hearted try for the tag.

Minneapolis had scoring chances in the first and second innings but McDonald bore down to prevent any scoring. A running catch by Mele in the second was helpful.

The Millers registered twice in the fifth, the tallies being set up by Bob Prescott's single and a double off the scoreboard by Wayne Terwilliger. Prescott tallied after Don Grate's sacrifice fly and Terwilliger came home on Bill Taylor's wrongway double to left.

Most of the excitement was in the erased eighth. Minneapolis scored three times, two of the runs being chalked up on Prescott's triple off the wall in right.

The rain, which started in the sixth, turned into a deluge as the Indians came to bat. There were two out before Mele doubled. Romano's single provided a marker and Charlie Williams also singled.

Fernando Rodriguez relieved Burnside and Jim Delsing entered the tilt as a pinchhitter. The count was 2-2 as Manager Andy Cohen and Coach Johnny Hutchings of the Indians were arguing a called strike with Umpire John Mullen.

Mullen suddenly raised his arms, signifying play was halted. And it never resumed, forcing elimination of Rodriguez and Delsing from the box score.

Minneapolis won two tilts in the three-game series for a 6-4 record at Victory Field. Denver arrives today starting with a double-header this afternoon at 1:30.

Outfielder Jim Landis, sent down by the White Sox, made his first Indianapolis showing.
