

second, on the leg.

THREE SINGLES and an error gave Charleston its other two runs in the ninth. Garcia dropped the ball on a force play at second although the Indians argued that the second baseman had made the out, then lost possession while wheeling toward first. Risley and Hicks then batted over the tallies.

Manager Andy Cohen of the Tribe was somewhat miffed as the umpires were caught in an embarrassing situation. Chrisley threw to third attempting to get Risley but all three umpires were elsewhere. So, Risley automatically was called safe. But he became one more of the 10 Charleston runners stranded.

But John Romano went back on the ailing list because of an unusual accident. He was warming up in front of the Indianapolis dugout while Charleston was holding infield practice and a ball hit the the catcher on the left side of the head. Romano was taken to a hospital where it was reported he suffered a slight concussion.
