

6,672 'Owners,' Dignitaries To See Cooper Start

The Indianapolis Indians, backed by 6,672 stockholder-rooters, open their American Association baseball schedule at 7:45 p.m. today against the Denver Bears after a 37-mile parade through the city.

Veteran big leaguer Walker Cooper, the Tribe's new manager, will make his debut in Indianapolis as a catcher, a skill he perfected during his 18-year baseball career.

PRE-GAME ceremonies will get under way at Victory Field at 7:15 p.m.

An all-time high advance ticket sales predicts a sizable crowd. The Tribe front office has sold $84,000 in advance tickets, topping last year's record of $71,000.

Mayor Phillip L. Bayt, urging the public to back the ball club, has proclaimed today as Baseball Day.

A SPECIAL feature of the evening will center on a big, live bear—fully trained and valued at $1,000.

Dr. Marvin Sandorf of Indianapolis has offered to donate it to Andy Cohen, manager of the Denver Bears, if the club defeats the Indians tonight. Cohen is a former Indians manager.

A parade, sponsored by the Indianapolis Junior Chamber of Commerce, will begin the big day, leaving Victory Field at 11:30 a.m. and rolling along a one-hour, 48-minute route.

One Tribesman to a car, the police-escorted caravan will go west on 16th Street to Main Street in Speedway. From there it will go south on Main Street to 10th Street, east to Holmes Avenue, south to Washington Street and east on Washington Street to Belmont Avenue.

IT WILL go south on Belmont Avenue to Morris Street, east on Morris Street to Kentucky Avenue, northeast to Maryland Street, east to Illinois Street, north to New York Street and east to Meridian Street.

Then it will move south, around Monument Circle, and on to McCarty Street. Then east to Virginia Avenue and southeast to Prospect Street, east to Keystone Avenue and south to Pleasant Run Parkway.

Then the parade will go to the Twin-Theatir, southeast on Southeastern Avenue to Pleasant Run Parkway, north to English Avenue, east to U.S. 52, southeast to Kitley Avenue and then to the Eastgate Shopping Center.

It will go north on Ind. 100 to Ind. 67, then to 38th Street and west to Meridian Street. Heading south on Meridian Street, it will go to Michigan Street, west to Indiana Avenue and out Stadium Drive to Victory Field.

Introduction of Indianapolis players will start the pre-game ceremonies. Denver players also will be introduced.

JACK BULGER, promotion chairman of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will present Owen J. Bush, president of the Indians; Frank E. McKinney, chairman of the board of Indians Inc., Ray Johnston, general manager and William H. Warren, promotion director.

Mayor Bayt will introduce Cooper.

Robert E. Kirby, Indians' vice-president, will speak about developments of interest to stockholders.

THE MARINE color guard and the American Legion color guard then will participate in the flag raising.

Lieutenant Governor Crawford F. Parker will throw the first ball to Mayor Bayt and with the playing of "Back Home in Indiana" the field will be cleared for the start of play.
