Hollywood, Fla. — Cloyd Boyer passed his test yesterday if Indianapolis Manager Johnny Hutchings is in doubt about the Tribe's opening game pitcher.

Boyer hurled five innings against the Philadelphia Phillies and held the National Leaguers to one hit.

However, the Indians didn't do much hitting on their own account and were shut out by Robin Roberts and Ed Keegan. The Tribe obtained only three safeties, all singles, in a 4-0 setback.

THE VETERAN Roberts had his breaking stuff working well and had his usual fine control. He issued no passes although he was noticeably bothered by the mound, twice falling down as he completed pitches.

Keegan, a 20-year-old right-hander who was with the Phillies at the conclusion of the 1959 season, didn't allow a hit in the final three innings.

Two of the three Tribe

Larry Raines, the other was belted by Cal Emery.

Only two Tribesmen got past first, one reaching third. In the eighth inning, Bob Smith walked with two out and ran to third on Keegan's wild pitch.

GENE DEUTSCH rapped solidly towards second but Sparky Anderson hustled over for a brilliant stop and his off-balance throw was in time for a close decision at first.

Boyer also demonstrated fine control and the only run made off him was unearned.

Four errors were charged to the Tribe and two of them helped the Phillies to a run in the fourth.

With two out, Emil Syngel let Ted Lepcio's grounder get by. Lepcio stole second and Jim Coker walked, then Robert's hopper was misplayed by Raines and Lepcio scored.

Coker, who batted .287 at Buffalo last season, collected three of the six Philadelphia hits.

THE PHILLIES registered their other three markers off southpaw Dick Bunker in the seventh.

Coker singled and Wally Post, a former Tribesman, walked. Bob Malkmus, trying to sacrifice, bunted foul twice then lifted a double which fell just inside the right field line.

Coker tallied and Ken Walters walked to fill the bases. Ed Bouchee cracked a single into center for the other two markers. A 1959 Tribesman, John Callison, also walked to fill 'em up again but Bobby Gene Smith popped to short and Lepcio was called out on strikes to end the frame.

Another lefthander, Steve Kraly, blanked the Phils in the ninth.

HIT-AND-RUN — Another game with the Phillies will be played at Miami this afternoon.

The attendance yesterday was 365 paid. This is considered good as big league baseball is offered just 20 miles away in Miami.

"I'm still in there trying," said Post although it has been well publicized that Manager Eddie Sawyer of the Phils is planning a "youth movement." Callison probably will platoon in left with Bobby Gene Smith.

Andy Cohen, Indianapolis manager in 1957, coached for Philadelphia at first base.

Indianapolis catcher Bob Uecker was in uniform. He returned Thursday night from Milwaukee where his wife is ill.

Hal Trosky, a former Indianapolis pitcher, is in camp awaiting assignment. He was transferred from San Diego.

Bouchee and Keegan made a good play to retire Fred VanDusen in the eighth, as the first baseman went to his right to prevent a hopper from going through.

Raines leaped to snare Lepcio's poke in the ninth.

Alvin Dark grabbed Boyer's liner at the third-base line in the third.

Philadelphia stranded 12 runners.

The Indians' exhibition record now is 7-7.

Football Simple Game, Broyles Tells Record Clinic At Purdue

Lafayette, Ind. — Frank Broyles, a smiling young man from the South, yesterday told a record crowd of 609 coaches something they may already have begun to suspect—that football really is a simple game, only the people complicate it.

pretty much with the basics of football in leading Arkansas toward gridiron respectability (13 victories in his last 15 games).

He doesn't go in much for the latest wrinkles or flimflams.

For example, speaking of defense: "I follow the three deep principal (three halfbacks

That makes a coach of a fellow."

Other speakers yesterday were Bob Brugge, coach at Parma (O.) High School; Bernie Krueger, former Illinois quarterback now coaching Hammond High, and Rap Currie, head coach at Charle-roi (Pa.) High School.

This morning the coaches will hear Dave Nelson of
