

Skidding Pelicans Lose 3rd Straight; Barons Washed Out

Even the weather seems to have taken a stand against the New Orleans Pelicans, who have plunged from third place to the Southern Assn. cellar by losing 17 of their last 22 games.

Last night a heavy rainfall began in Chattanooga the instant the Pels were retired in the top of the fifth inning, making the game legal with Chattanooga ahead 1-0.

The umpires called it 44 minutes later, handing the Lookouts their third consecutive victory over Andy Cohen's luckless birds.

Rain came a bit earlier at Birmingham and washed out the league leading Barons' game with Memphis. Nashville salvaged one game of its four-game set with Mobile, trimming the Bears 5-3 on bases empty homers by George Schmees and Tommy Brown.

Atlanta rallied in the bottom of the ninth to beat Little Rock 7-6. The Crackers' fourth straight victory over the Travelers hoisted them into a tie for second place with Mobile.
