Denver Bears Set For Spring Opener

LAKE WALES — The Denver Bears, American Assn. champions, will open their Lake Wales schedule of games today in a contest against the Richmond Virginians who hold spring training in Haines City.

All games on the Bears schedule this spring start at 1:30 p.m. The management this year is continuing a policy of free admission started last year. No charge is made for any of the games at the local field.

MGR. ANDY Cohen said the local park appears to be in good shape, and he's looking forward to giving it a real test today.

The second game of the spring season in Lake Wales will be played against the Virginians Saturday, followed by two more games here Saturday and Sunday against Charleston and the Yankee B team respectively.

Cohen joined the Bears this spring, succeeding Ralph Houk who is now with the parent Yankees as a coach. Last year Cohen managed the Indianapolis team, which is also in the American Assn., but during most of his career he has been associated with National League farm clubs.

THE NEW Denver manager has been in professional baseball for a generation, getting his start in the big time as a player for the New York Giants in 1928 and 1929.

On the Bears roster this spring are 17 pitchers, one catcher, three first basemen, nine infielders and seven outfielders.

Twelve of the players were with Denver last year, one is a rookie, and the rest represent various classes of professional baseball. Their ages range from 19 to 38.
