

Miners Win Series With Denver Club

For the first time in the history of Miner baseball, Coach Andy Cohen's team had the best record in a three game series with Denver University.

The Miners took a double-header from Denver 2-1 and 3-2 yesterday. Both victories came as the result of clutch hitting and clutch pitching.

Cohen's nine met Denver in a single game today at Dudley Field, but regardless of the outcome the Miners have won the series.

IN THE FIRST game Marc Bombard combined good smart pitching with mixing up his speed on different pitches to win.

"Bombard pitched a good steady game," said Cohen, "and he mixed his pitches real well."

Johnny Miller and Tim Pedin drove in the runs in the first game, with Pedin hitting the icer with a double.

JIM GREGGERSON collected the second win of his college career in rightcap. Gregger, who just missed a shutout, used a fast ball and curve to hold the Denver bats to six hits.

Brian Harper was the big bat for the Miners in the second outing by driving in all the runs.
