

Lefthanders Will Open WAC Play

Lefthander Marc Bombard will get the starting nod when Andy Cohen's U.T. El Paso Miner baseball team opens Western Athletic Conference play against the University of Arizona Friday at Dudley Field.

On Friday the Miners have a single game beginning at 2 p.m., and then doubleheader Saturday starting at 1 p.m. For the doubleheader Cohen will go with his other two lefties, Harry Milner and Jim Greggerson.

COHEN hopes that the team's leading hitter Bob Propokowicz will be ready for action. In Friday's doubleheader with Highlands University Propokowicz injured his leg sliding into base and had to sit out Saturday's encounter.

In a single game Saturday game the Miners again unloaded the wood on Highlands, taking a 10-3 decision behind the pitching of Greggerson.

"I only hope we can keep hitting the way we did last weekend," said Cohen. "The boys are really hot with bat now."

THIS WEEK Cohen will have the Miners working on defensive play. "We need to iron out some defensive problems," he said.

The Miners rapped out 18 hits against Highlands and Greggerson held their bats silent all except for one inning where they hit the ball a few times using some Miner errors to score.
