

Wildness, Errors Hurt Miner Club

PHOENIX—Coach Andy Cohen was hopeful today that his U.T. El Paso Miners have overcome their awe of the Arizona State's Sun Devils, perennial power of the Western Athletic Conference and national champions.

The Miners, nervous and jittery, committed three errors in the first inning against the ASU in a WAC game at Mesa last night. The Sun Devils scored an unearned run and had four more in the third plus one in the eighth to win 6-1.

COHEN STARTED Harry Milner against the Sun Devils in an afternoon game today and had Marc Bombard ready for a night battle.

Jim Greggerson had good stuff for the Miners yesterday but was wild and issued seven walks. He was succeeded by Bill Diesselhorst in the seventh. The Miners scored their only run in the seventh. Tim Peden doubled and was driven in by Juan Sandoval. Craig Swan, going the distance for ASU, collected 15 strikeouts.

E.P. Opener Set Tomorrow; Haskins Hurls

Everything is set for the opening of the Sun Kings home season in the Texas League tomorrow at Dudley Field.

Don Haskins, U.T. El Paso basketball coach, will throw out the first ball. There'll be band music and player introductions.

Ray Johnston, owner of the Sun Kings who lives in Dallas, will be here for the opening.

Starting time for the game is 2:15 p.m.
