

Big 8 Off to Another Good Start—

Cohen to Speak At Boys Opening

Andy Cohen will be guest speaker at formal ceremonies launching the 19th season for Boys Baseball of El Paso at 6:15 p.m. tomorrow at Memorial Park.

Cohen, who has been in baseball in one capacity or another for over 30 years, at one time played in the Major Leagues and is presently coach of the U.T. El Paso baseball team.

ALSO TAKING part in the ceremonies will be Larry Welsh, commissioner of Boys Baseball; Art Ranew, executive director of the program, and Al Sepkowitz, his assistant; Rev. Harland M. Irvin Jr., who will give the invocation; and Gene Stogner, athletic director for the City Parks and Recreation Department, who will act as master of ceremonies.

This year's Boys Baseball program will include 96 teams and will provide some 1,500 boys with the opportunity to play organized baseball.

After the brief formal opening ceremonies, there will be two exhibition games.

All teams in the program have been asked to arrive at Memorial Park at 5:45 p.m. for team pictures.

DEFENDING Major League champion got off to another good start by defeating Garland Vending 4-1. Mario Acevedo went 3-3. Ed Hackney allowed four hits for the winners.

Bowie Kuhn Opposed To Option

NEW YORK (UPI)—Baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn said today he was opposed to an option clause in player contracts because he wanted the sport to be free of any danger of losing its integrity.

Kuhn made the comment under cross examination during the Curt Flood trial in federal district court. Flood's anti-trust suit is seeking to overturn baseball's reserve clause which binds a player to one team until he is traded.

THE VETERAN player was traded by the St. Louis Cardinals to the Philadelphia Phillies but refused to report to the Phils and subsequently filed the suit contesting the reserve system.

Pro football players presently have a clause in their contracts which permit them to play out other options and sign with another team.

Baseball Draft Set Next Week

NEW YORK (UPI) — Baseball's annual draft meetings will be held here Thursday and Friday, June 4-5, in the customary two stages — regular and secondary phases. Last year's draft produced such notables as Cincinnati relief specialist Don Gullett.
