'Scooter' Longmire Rated as Superstar Utes High on Untried QB

By BOB INGRAM
HOW MANY SCHOOLS in the country could list both No. 1 and No. 2 quarterbacks and still be rated a leading champion? Why Utah?

Not many, particularly when one of the quarterbacks was the elusive Ray Groth who broke for an 83-yard run against U.T. last fall. But Groth is the star of the Utes' offense and the Utes' defense.

An apparent exception is Utah's Redskins. They have what many observers believe is a complete replacement for Groth in Gordon (Scott) Longmire who hasn't played a down in varsity competition. They have another untried quarterback in Dana Clyde, a redshirt on the redshirted line last fall.

Groth and the No. 2 Utah quarterback, Clint Harden, passed 200 yards in the Utes' 42-0 record last season. The Redskins defeated the champion Arizona State Sun Devils but lost the title to ASU because Utah played one less defensive game than the Devils did.

Doesn't Like No-Passing Game

LONGMIRE is the big "find" of the Salt Lake City school. Originally recruited by Michigan State, he transferred to Utah after his freshman season because he didn't like the no-passing game philosophy of Duffy Daugherty, the Spartans coach.

The "Scooter" had a sensational performance in the Utah spring game, completing 20 of 32 passes for 184 yards. Clyde had an even better job, completing 14 of 24 passes for 271 yards and two touchdowns.

But Longmire is the No. 1 man in Utah's offensive hopes for 1970.

Bill Meek, the graying Utah coach who is starting his third season with the Utes is no stranger to many Southwesterners, having coached at Houston and Southern Methodist, call him a "blue-chip" player.

Meek, talking to the WAC sports writers and radio and television men at the conference meeting in San Antonio at Agua, Colo., last week, called "Scooter" both a pocket and sprint out quarterback, said he can pass both the short and long pass and is as fast as Groth.

Raps, Praises His Receivers

TALKING ABOUT LONGMIRE's leadership, Meek said that he'll speak his mind to an intended receiver if that player doesn't catch a good pass and at the same time will put the back of a receiver who does make a fine catch.

The churl Redskin at Utah seems to have absolute faith in Longmire coming through.

"If you know me I let the quarterbacks run the game," he said. "I don't send in many plays. That makes it tougher on my quarterback. Longmire in the spring game stuck very well to the game plan."

The Utes are in the same situation as they were last year, schedule-wise. They play only six WAC games, as compared with the full seven played by most conference teams.

"If we win the championship we're going to have to win every game," he said.

And Meek is one of the WAC coaches who claims no conference team will go through the season undefeated.

"We caught a few teams by surprise last year and beat some teams we weren't supposed to beat," he said. "I'll be tougher this year." He added that two of the Utes' hardest games, against Wyoming and ASU, will be played away from home.
